DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1-2, 11-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chuang et al (5,212,831).

Regarding claim 1, Chuang discloses a methods and apparatus for autonomous adaptive frequency assignment in TDMA portable radio systems, comprising tuning a receiver of the radio port to a radio frequency (see fig.2, step 202, fig.3, element 307 and its description) measuring a received signal strength of the radio frequency (see fig.3, element 312 and its description); comparing the received signal strength of the radio frequency to a predetermined threshold value (see fig.3, element 313 and its description); and assigning the radio frequency as a downlink radio frequency of the transmitter of the radio port if the received signal strength of the radio frequency less than or equal to the predetermined threshold value (see fig.2, step 204-205, fig.3, element 314 and its description).

Regarding claim 2, Chuang further discloses repeating (a) through (d) (see fig.2, steps 206, 208, 202 and its description).

Regarding claim 11, Chuang further discloses transmitter off to be able to "listen" to the transmissions from all other (see fig.2, step 202 and its description)

Regarding claim 12, Chuang further discloses assigning an uplink radio frequency to another receiver of the radio port (see fig.2, steps 202-205, col.12, lines 35-51 and its description).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
